that alone, or in collaboration with others, any hostile power would think before attacking Canada.

Premier Patterson said, "I think that we are all free peace, but in view of world conditions today, I am very much in favor of the augmentation of all our forces, and taking such other precaution to protect our liberties."

In another message to the society, Premier Patterson of Saskatchewan said recent occurrences in Europe "have brought very vividly to the public mind the horrors of war and should have brought to the public consciousness the necessity of every citizen, contributing in every possible way towards the main-and world peace.

Defense Minister Macdonald said scarcely any sacrifice can be too much for peace "but even then, it cannot be peace at any price, although today it may be peace at almost any price."

ROOSEVELT TO ASK FOR MIGHTY
AIRPLANE FLEET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Administration circles heard last night

President Roosevelt intended to ask the United States Congress to authorize one of the mightiest air fleets, numbering from 7,000 to 10,000 planes for the army.

His far reaching plans to bolster national defenses were reported in the Washington Post as "a full war equipment as quickly as possible for a nucleus army of 400,000 or more men."

It was estimated the program involved outlays next year exceeding $1,000,000,000, and this year's appropriations for all military purposes, including naval.

HECKLER PERSISTENT

The heckler refused to be silenced, pouring at the mayor a range of questions, not a single word of which could be understood through the boisterous applause, clapping and jeers.

The questioner wanted to know

if an agreement had been entered into with the power company when

Superintendent Watson had

approved the civic contract for all power requirements and a power agreement with the city.

"We have kept the agreement in force for the simple reason that we wanted and still want power transmission," stated Mayor Fry. "I have been paying $1 million per year for the last year, but that does not mean

anybody has been paid for anything getting insurance and protection."

That is what I am paying for,"

the Citizens' committee said. "In the event of plant failure we will be able to supply power to the city of Edmonton's industries and homes," continued Mayor Fry. "And we intend to enter into similar agreements with the other power companies. It has been made by a majority of the large power users operating in the city."

Mayor Fry assured his audience such a purpose," returned Mr.

Clarke.

"You did at Swifts," said back the heckler.

"The police were at Swifts to protect property," thundered Mr.

Clarke. "They were not there to act on my behalf."

The heckler refused to be

silenced, pouring at the mayor a

range of questions, not a single

word of which could be understood

through the boisterous applause, clapping and jeers.

The questioner wanted to know

if an agreement had been entered

into with the power company when

approved the civic contract for

all power requirements and a

power agreement with the city.

"We have kept the agreement in

force for the simple reason that we

wanted and still want power trans-

been paying $1 million per year for

the last year, but that does not mean

anybody has been paid for anything

getting insurance and protection."

That is what I am paying for,"

the Citizens' committee said. "In

the event of plant failure we will

continued Mayor Fry. "And we

intend to enter into similar agreements with the other power companies. It has been made by a majority of the large power users operating in the city."

Mayor Fry assured his audience

the plan. "This will be completed in about two months' time," he stated.

CLARKE DENIES CHARGE

The same heckler charged Alderman Hugh John Macdonald with having changed his stand on the power struggle during the last few hours of a public hearing. He had with him in his office Alderman Macdonald angrily denied the suggestion.

Former Mayor Joseph A. Clarke

Mother Charged When Acquitted on Charge of Murdering Second Husband

VICTORIA, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Vera Colbourne, mother of a five-year-old daughter, Saturday night was acquitted by the second assize court jury to try her on a charge of murdering her second husband as she slept in their modest Oak Bay cottage early April.
